DEDICATION: Charles Hodsdon

This year the 1988 MITOBO has been dedicated to a man who has not only led the Class of 1988 as a unit, but has taken interest in all of us as unique people. Mr. Hodsdon is someone who never forgets a face and his out-going personality has brightened many of our days. He is an effective teacher not only because he possesses a wealth of knowledge to share but because he cares about the students outside the classroom as well as in it. He has been there — organizing banquets and homecoming floats, dressing up as a hillbilly, Groucho Marx, or some other creative costume at our functions. Mr. H. not only is there supporting our class, he has become an integral part of it. And for that, we would like the opportunity to thank Mr. Hodsdon for treating us as individuals while at the same time binding the classes of Masconomet together.

Mr. Hodsdon has a love of life. He is always willing to try new things and to consider new possibilities. This helps to keep him young and vital both in the classroom and out.

Not everyone in the Class of 1988 realizes that Mr. Hodsdon is also a devoted family man. He enjoys traveling and relaxing at his lakefront home in Maine in the summer with his wife and two sons. Sailing in his Hobie Cat and waterskiing are but two of the activities which occupy his summer hours. On winter weekends, many of us have passed the Hodsdon family on the slopes of Sunday River where they have season passes.

Being an effective class advisor takes countless hours of evenings and weekends. We want Mr. Hodsdon to know how much his commitment of time and energy has meant to all of us...a big thank you from the Class of 1988 is definitely in order!!!

IN MEMORIUM
SARA ANNE FULLER
1969-1985

Sally was a very sincere and friendly individual who possessed a great sense of humor. Her untimely death in the Spring of our freshman year left us empty and confused. We remember her and miss her...

A BEGINNING

Diversity as defined by Webster's is a state of difference; unlikeness. This definition explains the spirit of Masco. We are a student body comprised of different interests, beliefs, and goals. To capture these ideas with one theme could not possibly capture everyone. So, instead of unifying the classes of Masconomet with one central theme, we chose two subjects on opposite ends of the spectrum, to try to include all of Masco, no matter where they fall in Masco's social, academic, or athletic scene. On one end, we have the facts, the serious straight forward side of us which stays in control. In contrast, we have our exploitive side, a part of us which wants to be zany and cut-loose from any down-to-earth characteristics. Hence, the 1988 MITOBO staff decided to contrast the known facts, black and white...

...with the whispered rumors which are ultimately read all over, to unify the students of Masconomet. We encourage all of you to find a part of yourself in this yearbook. We are sure you will. As you look through this yearbook, please note, there are no mistakes, the pages are upside down deliberately. After all, even the yearbook staff needs an outlet for their crazy, wacky, madcap antics.

Then and Now...

Looking back at our years at Masco, many students will find it hard to believe that a good part of their last six years was spent here. Masco was a place where we went to school, but it was a lot more. In seventh grade, it was the ominous place where we thought we would get lost, never to return again. Soon, we discovered it was conquerable. As seventh graders, we were subjected to high schoolers' taunting, mandatory chorus, and countless spirit days in which we were coaxed into painting our bodies red and white. There were the highlights to our first year here though, namely our numerous field trips. We journeyed to Bradley Palmer, Plum Island, and other hot spots in the area. But, the apogee occured in June of that year. We had Field Day. If one recalls, it rained...all day. Playing tug of war just isn't the same in the middle of a downpour...

We entered the following fall as the big eighth graders on campus, pretty cool and confident. It was a typical year, no big events until...they came to town. The identical Balogh triplets became the new obsession for the eighth grade girls. At the year's end, there was the infamous big eighth grade formal in which we stood and watched Rob Portillo and Rob Bagarella breakdance for a good portion of the night. To end the year, we went to Canobie Lake Park where we went wild for the day.

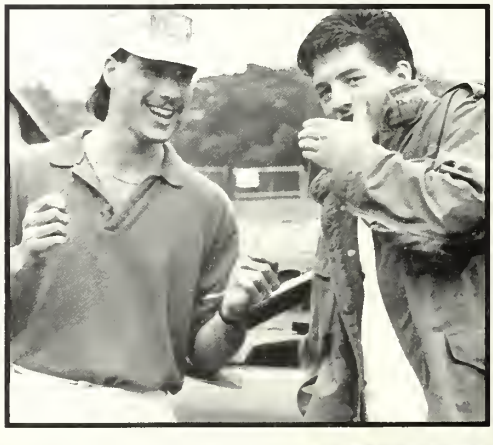
Our times in high school were memorable and there were too many to mention in such a short space. As freshmen, we were told, "These are the best years of your life!" When we became the targets of Senior antics we questioned, "Does this get better?" As sophomores, we were subjucted to the ultimate test, the ignorance fighter, Al Brown. I don't think we'll ever recover from that verbal abuse, even if we might have learned something in the process.

Those dances always produced a good turnout in which people would pack into the field house to rock the night away. There were other events that unified Masconomet such as those Saturday football games. Fellow Masconians would congregate to watch those dazzling athletes stun their opponents time and time again. For the more cultural side of us, there were always the theatrical productions to satisfy our needs. As juniors, we were prom bound, corsages in place and expectations running high. It was a memorable night that everyone remembers in some way, even if the highlight was the fruit salad. The summer break came and went. Then, FINALLY, we were seniors! Our time had come. Our parties, functions, and frolics, led by the "Dream Team" were a success.

To think back to our years at Masconomet, the events are significant but most important is the fact that throughout the years we grew and matured not only individually but collectively, as a class. The diversity of Masco which is represented in the Class of 1988 has come together as a unit and is working toward a common goal. Were these the best years or is the best yet to come? The future alone holds that answer.

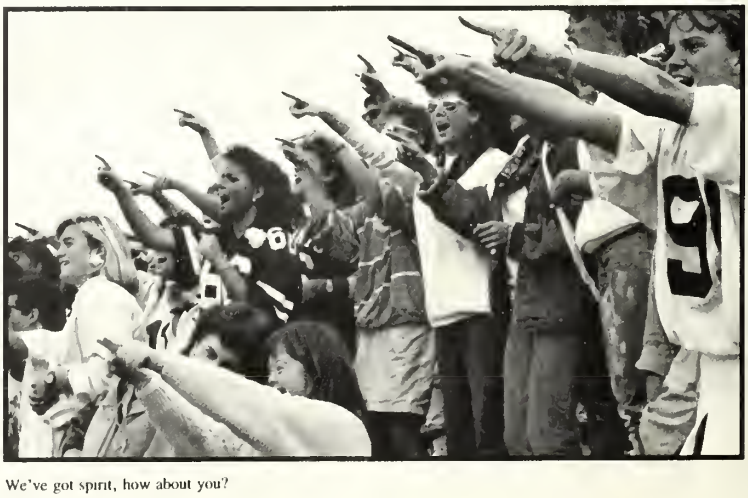
It says it all.

J. Epstein and M. Goettel have the homecoming spirit.



A chain of friends.

C. Keene pays no attention to what Russ has to say



We've got spirit, how about you?

KENDALL WORKS WONDERS "DALY"

The name Kendall Daly has become, in four years at Masco, synonymous ıth athletic excellence. She has been a varsity basketball and soccer player r four years. She has been named Cape Ann League Soccer Player of the ear for the second year in a row. She is ranked as the top player in Division Girls Soccer. She has been named to almost every all-star team in the state r four years. Kendall has shattered the Massachusetts record for goal coring by over forty goals.

In basketball, Kendall was also named the Cape Ann League Player of the ear. The season of her junior year, she scored her 1000th point in basket- all. She has been credited nationally in USA Today twice for outstanding hletic achievements. She is one of the few woman athletes in the country to ver 100 goals in soccer and over 1000 points in basketball.

Kendall is a captain in all three sports. She has done almost all she can do s an athlete. She has gained the admiration of her coaches and her peers.

"Kendall is the most feared player in the state," states her soccer coach, m Murphy. "She is the best athlete I have ever coached. Over the years, she as matured as both an athlete and a person which will help her ultimately in e future."

"Kendall is awesome, there's no doubt about it. Watching her is a treat," ates Brook Balogh.

"When she's on the field, you have a tendency to just get caught up in her ay. You have to adjust to her adroitness and get into the game," comments nny Robinson, a teammate.

Although Kendall has gained a lot of press, she has accepted this and tried ot to have it affect her as a person. "I've been really fortunate to have the ıpport from my family, coaches, and teammates over the years," com- ents Daly. "I love playing sports. The recognition is nice, but it's not my p priority as an athlete. When you're out on the field or the court, all the vards don't mean much. Winning as a team is the biggest satisfaction."

Daly has lots to smile about

MASCO WELCOMES...

Who do you know who's from Seville, Spain, believes that it's important for a person to spend time alone, and is hoping for a scholarship? His name is Jesus Damia, and he's an exchange student who is spending a year living with a host family in Boxford. What inspired him to come to America? "I wanted to come in contact with another culture and practice my English," Jesus comments. Jesus is an exceptional person, taking on many challenges. According to him, the culture shock was not as big as expected. "It's pretty much the same," he states, "except that the standard of living is higher here in the United States."

The motivated foreigner is uncertain about his future goals. "I will apply to some American colleges, but I'm not sure whether or not I want to attend a university in Spain. I will decide in the summer."

Although he speaks moderate English, Jesus welcomes conversation with a friendly face. He is more than willing to talk with people. He doesn't allow his foreign status at Masco to suppress his natural tendency to be open.

Jesus' academic interests focus on math and science. He's currently studying American History, English 9, and Oral Communications, due to the mandatory requirement. Calculus and Physics are where his true interests lie. Prior to arriving in America, Damia made a choice in Spain, which sophomores are required to make. Instead of studying literature, Jesus decided to continue his studies in the sciences.

As far as his observations are concerned, Jesus comments, "Everybody's very, very proud about being American." Jesus is very grateful for the opportunities Masconomet has offered him. Says Jesus, "I am very happy to be here."

BRACY: IN THE FAST LAYNE TO SUCCESS

Layne Bracy is first in his class at Masconomet. Who cares? There have been valedictorians every year, that's nothing special. But, if anyone knows Layne, they know he is not just your everyday student.

Layne is in three Advanced Placement classes, one of which in independent study math. At Masco, there is one calculus class which twenty students are in. To be in this class is an achievement as a senior. The amazing thing is, Layne took this class when he was a sophomore. Math has always been easy for Layne. He tied for fourth in a national math meet at Penn State University. He also placed seventh in a Massachusetts chemistry competition. He is captain of the Math Team. He has also received the Harvard Book Award for academic excellence. All these achievements are impressive but to look at Layne you would not stereo-type him as a "brain".

Layne is part of the "Gators" swim team, affiliated with Harvard University. He has won the most improved swimmer award three times and plans to swim competitively in college. He also played water polo when he lived in Cincinnati, Ohio.

"I like swimming because I can concentrate on it and forget about everything else," Layne says.

Swimming occupies much time. Layne swims every day-twice a day, four times a week. He gets up four mornings a week at 4:30 to go into Boston to swim for two hours before going to school. Sometimes, Layne gets only three hours of sleep a night. Yet he still maintains his high academic standards.

"Layne is so brilliant you want to put him on a pedestal, but he's so genuinely friendly, you can't," comments one student.

"Sure, Layne is smart. But, if he was detached like some geniuses no one would care. It is his sense of humor and personality that makes him stand out," notes Mr. Meinelt, teacher of four years.

Layne seems to take all of this in stride. When asked about all the awards, Layne states, "It used to embarass me but now I just accept it. I guess I'm really lucky."

It must be said, Layne's success is a little more than luck.

Layne searches for a word he doesn't know.

A bundled Bracy.

he can't find a single one.

FISCHER FINE TUNES HIS FUTURE

The leader with the band

Fischer soloing at a recent gig

Watch for this band's name in lights.

Years from now, the 1988 Masconomet graduates may find their children sifting through the albums by Dave Fischer at their favorite record stores.

David Fischer is an aspiring musician, hoping to "make it big" after he graduates in June. His passion for music has existed ever since he was young. The turning point came when, at the ripe age of twelve, he received a guitar as a Christmas gift. Since then, he has worked unrelentlessly to develop his natural talent into something which could one day make him a star.

"It's hard sometimes to go on with all the competition. But the one thing that keeps me going is the positive reaction from my audience," Fischer comments.

Dave not only plays the guitar, he writes many of his own songs as well. His songs are written from his strongest emotions and most memorable experiences. He has the uncanny ability to personalize his music which captivates his audience. His rising talent has gained him publicity which has resulted in successful shows.

Dave has been with his latest band since this past summer. His latest gig was at the Topsfield Fair in October. The turnout was excellent. This was their first major show and it has inspired them to move on. Dave's talent and devotion will soon be taking him and his band to clubs throughout the Greater Boston area. The band has high hopes for their future in the music industry.

"I want to make it and with the reaction we've been getting, it seems like we have a good chance," says Fischer.

Dave Fischer's hard work and dedication has brought him far since he began his musical career. He will attend Berkley School of Music to pursue his music further. If his determination to excel in the music world continues, his success is inevitable.

DREAMS REALLY DO COME TRUE

The dude, the dork, the jock, the babe...the official nametags of the senior class officers. These four dreamers, Jim Rafuse as President, Jon Epstein as Vice President, Steve Harte as Treasurer, and Chrissy Crippen as Secretary, have helped the Class of 1988 obtain a new sense of pride in their class.

These four started the "Dream Team" by launching an enthusiastic and successful campaign. The foundation of this campaign was to involve all walks of students from the Class of 1988 and to allow everyone to follow the "dream" of unifying our class and creating a memorable senior year. As a result of their dedication and hard work, the Class of 1988 has shaped themselves into a cloud of success.

The Dream Team has added new aspects and meanings to "Senior Life". The Class of 1988 all keep in touch with the latest happenings and upcoming events with their Senior World Communicator. The officers have also designed a calendar of events for seniors, including the Halloween Party, the Christmas Party, and other social gatherings. The Dream Team has brought the dream of participating in a memorable senior year to reality. The Senior Class thanks you, Dreamers!

Every move you make, he'll be watching you!

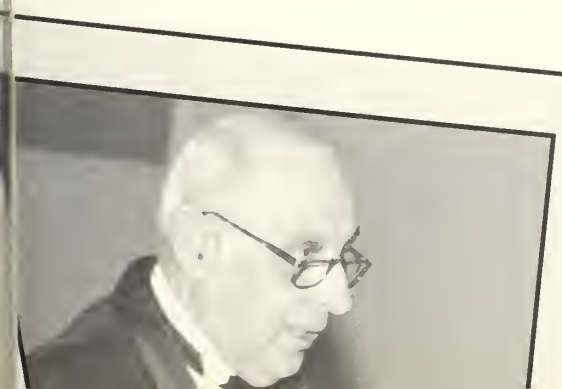
The ensemble performs at many of the same concerts as the Concert Band, and members are given honors credit for participating.

ADVISOR: Mr. Killian



JAZZ BAND

Musicians in the jazz band are selected during spring auditions and perform during the Christmas and Spring Concerts. The band, led by Mr. Killian, plays jazz, big band, and boogie woogie music, making the Masco music room sound like New Orleans or St. Louis.

The Stage Crew worked behind the [illegible] with the Business Club, Set Design, Makeup, and Costume to get both "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and "Hello Dolly!" off without a hitch this year. They were responsible for the design, construction, and promotion of each production. This year even more people came to enjoy the productions and hopes are high for even more attendance in the future.

To be a member of this distinguished group, one must participate regularly in any aspect of these productions whether it be acting, directing, set design, or business management. These students are the core of Masco drama.

ADVISOR: Miss Jarvie

FRENCH CLUB

Students are enlightened by Mrs. Rasner who knows firsthand about the Soviet Union. One member notes, "There are many misconceptions about Russians that we have. This club allows us to overcome these things."

ADVISOR: Mrs. Rasner

SCIENCE TEAM

For those who get excited at the sight of a periodic table, this club might just be for you. Students who are especially adept in science compete locally in meets and are given points for those questions they answer correctly. If formulas, bunsen burners, and eye goggles are your games, the science team just might be your claim to fame.

Math team is for those students whose eyes light up at the sight of a variable or an integral sign. These members travel around regionally competing in six meets in the Tri-State Math League and six in the Massachusetts Math League. Their efforts this year have gained them an admirable reputation. Led by wonder boy captain Layne Bracy and almost rans John Baur and Jill Sullivan, the team was in good hands.

MODEL UNITED NATIONS

Model U.N. is for all those aspiring diplomats whose idols range from Gary Hart to Ronald Reagan. This organization aims to recreate a situation similar to, you guessed it, the United Nations. The team travels to Harvard University and New York City to compete with other students from across the nation. This year, Allison Stambaugh and Rebecca Bracy won recognition for their outstanding efforts representing Somalia at Harvard. The team represented the powerful countries of Mongolia and Pakistan at New York. Chief Delegate Chris Forman "blended" the team expertly, resulting in a successful season.

FUTURE PROBLEM SOLVERS

Do you long for a good debate? Does pondering sound like your bag? Are you in this picture? If not, underclassmen take heart--Future Problem Solvers will be here in future years. This group takes a problem and tries to come up with a viable solution. This year the problem in question was: What should Masco do with that horrid oil-contaminated dirt out in the automotives area? This question posed a tough assignment for members. But, a solution as always was achieved.

ADVISOR, Mr. Craig.

CHESS TEAM

This shrewd team competes often with other teams, testing their intellectual maneuvers against their opponents. In the Northshore League, five players compete at different levels. An intramural competition determines these players through rigid training and coaching. This team has emerged as a strong competitor in the Northshore League.

These students are welcomed by the majority of the student body everyday because they bring something to make any class more bearable - a movie projector or perhaps a VCR! They also tape sports events and distribute all equipment throughout the high school. One student notes, "The AV kids are great but I think they're going to run someone over with those projectors on wheels if they're not careful."

RADIO MASCO

Haven't your enquiring minds ever wondered who those voices belonged to on the morning announcements? Well, put your mind at ease, Radio Masco members are the faces you've been looking for. Each morning, Radio Masco reports the latest happenings in the school. As Chris Geisel said, "If Radio Masco wasn't on each morning, my day would be lacking."

ADVISOR: Mr. Walker

WBMT

As its twelfth anniversary approaches, 88.3FM WBMT is still drawing in listeners. Run by Masco students of all ages, this station plays musical tastes ranging from the Beatles to Madonna. It also updates the Tri-Town area on the latest news. The roving reporters of the station cover football, soccer, and basketball games LIVE on that station. All these members are tuned into this club, allowing the tradition of WBMT to live on.

It prepares students for careers in business and provides a solid academic foundation for those who choose to pursue post-secondary programs. Students must hold a part-time job related to this program and be enrolled in the co-operative work experience. DECA students also have the responsibility to run the Masco school store.

SLAT

The Student Leaders Advisory Team (in case you were wondering what that stood for) is comprised of each class' executive board plus the officers of the Student Council and National Honor Society. The main function of this vital group is to plan the calendar for each school year, making decisions on school activites and functions. One appreciative senior notes, "I didn't realize they did all that. I thought they just wanted to be in another picture."

ADVISOR: Mr. Meegan.

SAB

The Student Advisory Board represents the student body of Masconomet to the School Committee, voicing student's opinions and concerns. Representatives are selected from each class and one member at large. This year the Class of 1991 had trouble finding the perfect representative. They were searching for a person with the look, brains, and confidence every SAB member should have. They found their man--Brett Rodgers volunteered his services to help his classmates and better the Masconian environment.

ADVISOR: Mr. Meegan

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

This dapper bunch is recognized for their outstanding achievements in scholastics, leadership, character, and service. Members include juniors and seniors. The activities of this group include the annual Heart Association Phone-a-thon and the carnation sale, as well as sponsoring other service projects, meetings, paper staplings, and social events. PEER ED

Staging a comeback, Peer Ed is back and [illegible] better than ever. This group is trained to help other students with suicide, divorce, drug use, and other rough spots adolescents might encounter. They are attempting to regain their footing by reaching as many members of the student body as possible. If their work and determination is any indication of their ability, the success of the revitalized group is imminent.

ADVISOR: Mrs. Murphy

FIREMAN'S AUXILIARY

"Some like it hot." Members of this group can understand this feeling. These members volunteer their time as firefighters in the Boxford area. The auxiliary trains every other week at local fire stations. As auxiliaries, they are trained the same as the regular volunteers the only difference being in that they don't respond to all fire calls. Their dedication to serve the well-being of the community is admired and commended.

ADVISOR: Mr. Soucy.

In April, 1987, a bevy of Maseonomet German students ventured to Saarbrucken, Germany, under the guidance of Mr. Spencer. For three and a half spectacular, fun-filled weeks, these students got a taste of German heritage, lifestyle, and culture. Trips to France, Berlin, Trier, and other historic locations furthered the European experience. In August, eighteen German students came to America for a month of similar sightseeing and fun. Though the departure was sad, no one will forget the great times they had and wonderful friends they made.

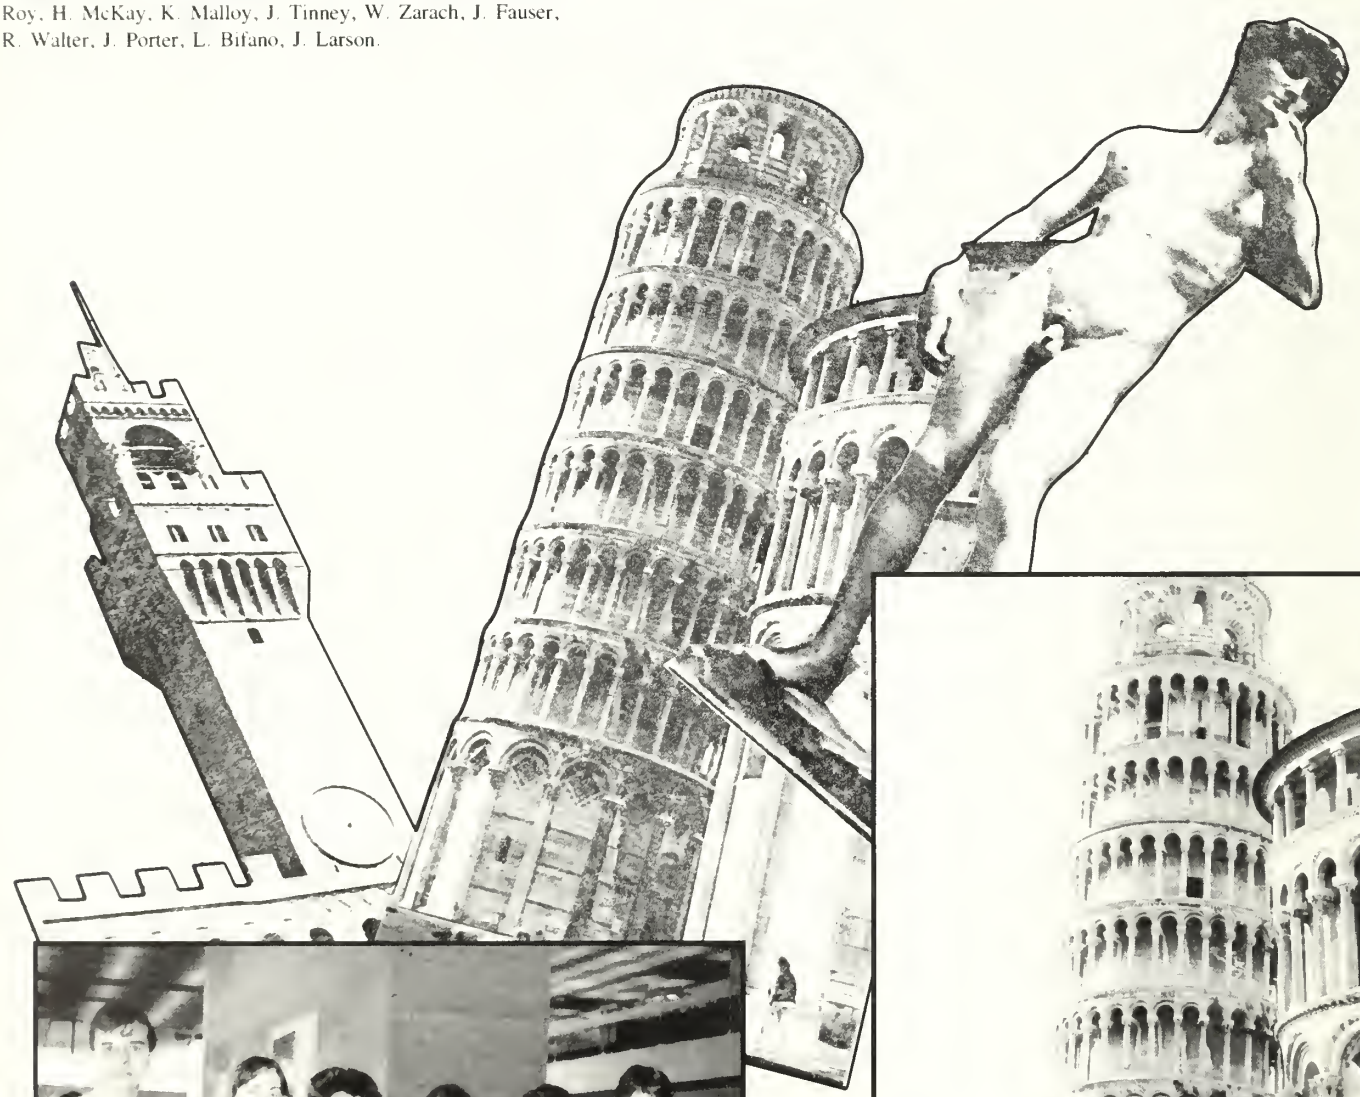
British Isles

Thirty seven Masco students spent their spring break of '78 touring England, Scotland, Wales, and Ireland. The group began the first part of the trip in London. They saw such sights and events as Buckingham Palace, Harrod's Department Store, Big Ben, and the Changing of the Guard. Easter was spent in Edinburgh, Scotland. From there, they traveled to Wales. Ireland was the group's last stop. Everyone went on the Ring of Kerry tour where they all kissed the famous Blarney Stone. The students returned to the United States after having experienced the British culture and customs.

Participants: J. Magnifico, A. Stowe, K. Burke, L. McMullin, J. Roy, H. McKay, K. Malloy, J. Tinney, W. Zarach, J. Fauser, R. Walter, J. Porter, L. Bifano, J. Larson.

Switzerland, Italy, and France Trip

Last April, fifteen students went abroad to Europe. Beginning in Lucerne, Switzerland the Masconians began a fast paced tour of Europe. Little did they know that by the time the group reached Italy, their tour guide Yvonne would be making them sprint through the Sistine Chapel. After visiting Venice, Rome, and Florence, the group went on to the Riviera, returned finally to Geneva, Switzerland. Highlights on the trip included visiting the Vatican and meeting the Pope, gambling in Monte Carlo, and climbing the Leaning Tower of Pisa.



Early Childhood

Early Childhood Education is a nursery for pre school children, a day care center and a high school course for Masconomet juniors and seniors. Mrs. Mannheim runs the nursery which is open for 3-5 year old children from the tri town area. The high school students learn how to deal with young children, learn about their mental growth, and develop leadership skills. It provides the students an opportunity to be creative, responsible, and to interact with young children.

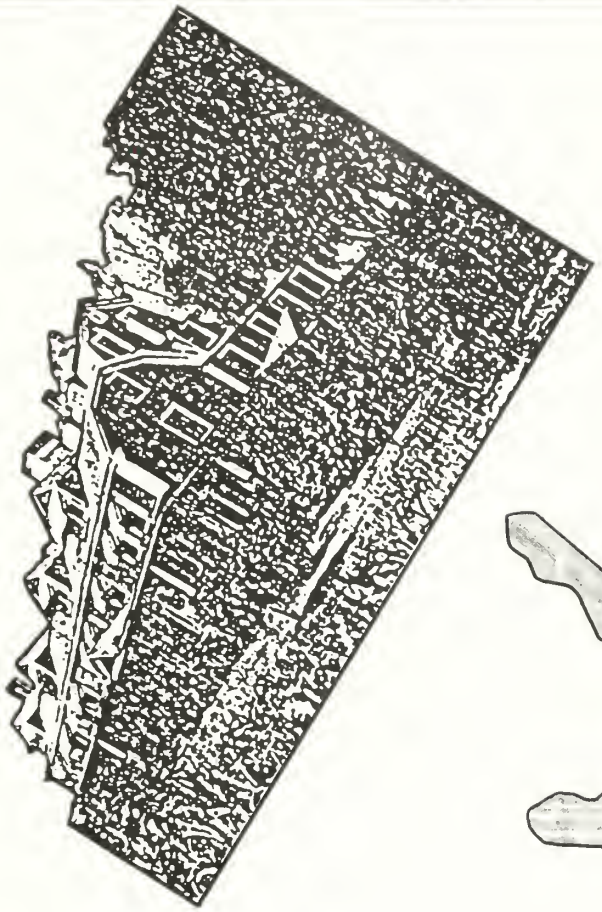
Seven Keys to Baldpate



The annual Masconomet drama productions open doors for many students both center stage and behind the scenes. They allow them the opportunity to showcase their multiple talents and skills. This year was no exception. The fall production of "Seven Keys to Baldpate" based on a local Georgetown site and under the able direction of Ms. Jean Jarvie thoroughly entertained those who attended.

This fast-paced and suspenseful production featured multiple unusual plot twists that kept its audiences constantly guessing.

Outstanding performances were provided by Linda Crosson, Chris Guertin, Emily Iarocci, Lorrie Lancaste, and Marcus Jamison.

Another highlight of the production was a very ambitious and convincing set design by art teacher, Mrs. Hultgren. Many contributed their time and talents to this entertaining production.

Hello Dolly

"Remember this scene?!"

"Hello Dolly," a spirited musical production set in New York at the turn of the century set, toes tappin' in the Henry E. Long Auditorium in March of this year.

Kim Weaver performed ably as Dolly Gallagher. Other outstanding performances were turned in by Emily Iarocci, Marcus Jamison, Meredith Davis, John Bucchiere and Kate Murphy.

In addition to those appearing in front of the footlights were a strong support staff of technical crews without whose assistance the "show wouldn't go on!"

Ms. Jean Jarvie served as director — her twenty-eighth year in this role. She was ably assisted by Mr. Kilhan as pit director, Mrs. Hultgren, John Tutt and Mrs. Vesta as technical and set advisors, Mrs. Gregory as business advisor, and Gigi Barter as make up advisor.

Training Center

Some of the hardest working students at Masconomet can be found behind the doors of C109. Partaking in everything from bowling to the Special Olympics, the Training Center students are always busy. The purpose of the Training Center is to teach the students to be independent. The students learn and practice functional skills to get along in the community. All students are taught regular high school courses, job training, and social skills that they wouldn't have developed on their own. Such activities as trips to Canobie Lake Park and the Science Museum provide variety for these deserving students.

Alternative School

With the guidance of Jim Pugh, several Masconomet students spend 2 to 5 periods a day in the Alternative School to supplement their normal curriculum. Focused on supporting one another, the program provides individual attention to students in areas requiring help. Such activities as field trips, Thanksgiving and Christmas parties, sponsoring the Christian Children's Fund, and visiting alumni and speakers are typical of happenings in the Masconomet Alternative School. The environment helps the students in dealing with both themselves and others by involving them in group discussions. It also gives participants a chance to relax and be themselves during the hectic school day. Our best to the "supportive" students!

Order Form/Envelopes that run right. We know we won't keep customers long if our Order Form/Envelopes don't work in the bindery and in the mail. Ours do work, because we dig out all the facts before going to press, check your artwork carefully, and meet bindery specs to the last detail. The best proof is more than 300 satisfied customers who stay with us because they trust us – and no complaints from some of the country's best and busiest binderies.

High quality, on-time delivery and lower costs. We pay equal attention to quality and aggressive cost controls. We buy directly from the converting divisions of six major paper mills – no job lots, no leftover specials. We constantly search out the best freight rates and consolidated shipments to save your money, and use carriers proven to deliver on time. We run efficiently seven days a week, with three shifts Monday through Friday (no charge for overtime). We're interested only in making your schedule and your bindery's schedule work.

Can we produce your job, on time? B&W runs more than a million Order Form/Envelopes a day on six web presses. Give us reasonable notice, and we can do your job – from 10,000 to 50 million – accurately and economically.

Simple to complex formats, one to all process colors, flexibility to change copy easily. We can also schedule large runs in portions to allow market testing, seasonal or price changes - at your original contract price!

Can we do everything? No, we don't do die cutting, numbering or other costly gimmickry. But we are equipped and experienced to produce the majority of designs/formats that work, and do the job right at an affordable price. We also believe the customer is intelligent, hard-working and busy – and treat him accordingly.

The Disclaimer

[illegible] yearbook, I don't want to write that it's twelve-thirty. It's [illegible] the last deadline, but...well, it is. From the beginning of the year, planning have been badgering the 1988 Yearbook staff to prematurely [illegible] Webster's book. We pray by this stage in reading it you've caught on to how difficult to encompass versatility, character, straightforwardness, and humor into a theme. In creating a tabloid-like version of [illegible], we run the risk of offending and/or stereotyping people. Thus, we [illegible] to include [illegible] captions or stories in the "wacky and weird" section. Tomorrow's hard feelings. We do think what we left in should be humorous, presented with a light mix. We wanted the lighthearted half of the MITOBO to complement the serious half and epitomize the diversity and ingenuity of our class. This yearbook is chock full o' candids and captions, whatever is not overly represented or important. It should certainly be the found-[illegible] to stage moments in memory of your alma mater in the future.

This year's MITOBO staff have been hard workers from start to finish [illegible], walk, talk, eat and breathe. Maura, when not being accosted in [illegible] by unknown faculty members, searched for negatives at home or [illegible] her camera around. Brock was outstanding in accurately identifying [illegible] "Hot Babes" in photos and thinking of snappy captions ("You tickle me, [illegible]"). Kerry was always willing to type her fingers numb on the computer. She had her fatty chat with Terry Povey and was supplied several snack items [illegible], as we all well know, is perfect and will make a wonderful editor of next year's book, just as long as she can control her seizures. Kerry's talent for writing humor was [illegible] on activities about which she knew nothing kept [illegible] even Pastor on the PUTA. Dianne was sure to make Brock blush with [illegible] Germain convenience store purchases as I slowly generated layouts. [illegible] Wendy by her keeping us all together with her consistently diligent [illegible]. I beg your pardon for our private jokes, well, I'm sick of writing them, so I will proceed to thank: Mr. Hussey, Mrs. Meinelt (coffee and congo bars), Mr. Smith, Amy Hoyffer, the custodians, Mr. and Mrs. Balogh for having such fine boys, and Mrs. Mulkerrin for the Sunnydoodles. Most of all, we'd love to thank our writing [illegible] of inspiration, Walter Meinelt, for his ideas, guidance, [illegible] typewriter, extra keys, and acceptance of Celtics tickets.

Enjoy this 1988 MITOBO and do keep in mind the sleepless nights in the [illegible] and the sharpness of pica rulers before you open your mouth to criticize it. We did it all for YOU, because, hey-we care!!

The senior's Halloween bash was held at the school this year, and what an unforgettable night it was! Costumes ranged from a huge puzzle, prehistoric cave women, spider women, killer bees, twin nerds, Alabama rednecks, fuzzy hamsters, Ninjas, and even a police officer who advertised about "catching cats." It's true! If you don't believe, ask Mike Pugeau. After some great refreshments, fantastic dancing, awards were given out to some of the more popular costumes like the trophies, one to Carmella Russin and Janis Sorbello; the cave women, Kelly Shaughnessy and Emily D'Agostino; the table and waiter, Emily [illegible] Sullivan; the '88 jigsaw puzzle, Karen Nowak, Joe Lucey, [illegible], Jen Ward, Missy Mclaughlin, and Jen Ward. Despite several setbacks, the wrestling team had a successful season. Driven by Coach Priest, the team worked hard in the preseason. But, by the beginning of the season, the squad's numbers had diminished and consequently they were forced to forfeit in two weight classes, putting them behind even before they began. But, even with these strikes against them, the members of the team overcame these obstacles to end with a 8-15-1 record. The highlight of the team's season was their impressive victory over Pennacket.

In the post-season, three wrestlers competed in the CAL Meet. Junior captain Coach Wilcox competed in the 123 lb. weight class. Junior Tim Lidewick wrestled under the 136 lb. class and Daryl Foland wrestled in his class. All received second place in their respective categories. Daryl Foland advanced to states where he competed but did not place.

Overall, Wilcox was satisfied with the season. "We did fairly well considering the problems we had in the beginning. It was a young team and next year we should be very strong."

Girls Shoosh to States

This year the boys had a respectable 5-8 season, but the girls took the league by storm, going undefeated led by the Huyffer sisters, K.J. and Amy. Under the new coaching of Mr. Worth, the team seemed to have a new vitality. With this spirit, the teams were roaring to go. The girls came out with a surprising victory against a strong North Andover. The season continued with the girls sweeping the league and the boys, although starting out shakily, did well in the midseason. The boys were led by junior captain Scott Chew who commented, "We started out badly but I think we really pulled together at the end." The girls team had five members going to state competition — Kyle Crawford, K.J. and Amy Huyffer, Allison Seymour, and Kristin Daly. Although no Masconians placed, the girls were happy with their overall performance. Senior Allison Seymour said, "This season was great because we never really expected to do as well as we did. Our rookie coach gave us a real boost."

Team "Boyles" Over

The boys' Indoor Track team settled the season with an even record of 5-5. The team marked a mid-finish improvement over last year when they captured only two victories in their attempts.

The team was led in both spirit and points by co-captains Gordon Braff and Corey Freeman. However, one of the primary reasons the team improved so drastically was due to the acquisition of a number of gifted underclassmen. One of the most stunning performances was rendered by freshman Dave "Wahoo" Winship, who captured 18 team points.

The 440 Relay (Braun, Braff, Freeman, and Lucey) went undefeated all season. They went on to the State Meet and placed an admirable third place.

Coach Barletta predicts a better season next year. "With all the returning underclassmen, and the Masco spirit to win and succeed, we'll be victorious."

The Lady Chieftains championship season was proof-positive that the girls' Indoor Track team deserved a coach of their own. Mr. Sinnott was their man. Another Masco-trained team dominated the league and the Chieftains fared well at the State Meet. Debbie Boyle (300 yd.), Desiree Russell (50 yd.), Lauren Fraser and Maureen Boyle (4x440 relay with Russell and D. Boyle) all went on to All-States. From her fifth place finish at All-States, Debbie Boyle went on to the New England Meet.

The key to the girls' success obviously came in the form of Mr. Sinnott. Desiree Russell commented, "After striving for two years for a coach, getting Mr. Sinnott was rather like a dream. He was a definite factor in winning the [illegible] Meet."

Season Melts

Okay, so maybe the hockey team was not the hottest thing that hit the Mascon winter sports scene. But, its 1-10-1 record could be deceiving. After all, the morale wasn't as high as last year since the team didn't have a collaborative head shaving party to boost their spirits. Also, one source informed us that the ice the Chieftains skated on had an unusually high friction force, slowing down the lightning fast skaters. But, the team did have a stunning 4-1 victory against North Reading. Led by senior captain Matt "Neon" Dion and sophomore Rick Antony, the Chieftains put out an extraordinary effort, clinching the victory early on. Although winning did not come often for the Chieftains, there were some good brawls in which Mark Balentine single-handedly took on entire teams, wiping them out with his powerful punches. So, the Chieftains might want to forget this season. But, it's not whether you win or lose until you lose.

The Gymnastics team dominated the league, tumbling, jumping, and swinging to an 8-0 record. Kim Frances' exciting floor routine helped clinch the victory over perennial champion Danvers, by one tenth of a point. From their impressive season opening win, the team went on to win the North Sectional Meet by beating Beverly. The North Sectional Champs went on to place seventh in the State Meet.

The team was also heaped with individual honors. Junior Kim Frances was a first team Globe All-Star and won the beam at the North Sectional Meet. She was then invited to the State Individual Meet where she placed third all around, third on vault, fifth on beam, and second on the floor. Kim, Meg Ryan, and Chris Crippen all did extremely well at the North League All-Star Meet.

Captains Meg Ryan and Chris Crippen were ecstatic about the season. Chris commented, "We really pulled it together for Sectionals, but we were hard hit first by States. Next year's team should do even better due to the impressive talent of our underclassmen."

Yo, Baby, Yo

The cheerleading cheerleaders were an incredibly close group. Although perfect harmony sometimes the cheerleaders had more than the football team, they continued to be enthusiastic, even when their team was losing. Jackie and Heather's "Yo Baby Yo" could be heard every game, psyching up the crowd and the team. Captains Cheryl Corey, Heather Daniels, and Aimee Eisenberg did an excellent job putting the competition routine together. Even though the judges ranked the squad second, everyone knows Masco easily blew away the competition. Treasure, Marci, Robin, and Debbie C and deserved to be Cape Ann League champions! Congratulations to All-Star Aimee Eisenberg and good luck to 1988 captains Sara Shannon.

The hockey cheerleaders were a group. The team was young and fairly inexperienced, relying on Kerry Shaughnessy, the only returnee from last year's squad, to show them the ropes. Captain Heather Daniels kept up every night's practice, as putting together the competition routine in two and a half weeks. The squad should be strong next year, returning all but two seniors. Congratulations to All-Star Heather Daniels and good luck to 1988 captains Jaclyn Bayda and Sara Shannon.

The basketball cheerleaders seemed fairly reminiscent of the football squad's work, in fact, many were. They apologized some of the cheers were repetitive, they spent most of their season practicing for competition. After Diane Cl broke her ankle two weeks before competition and Donna hurt her knee the day before, the squad regrouped and gave a fourth-place performance at competition. Captains Aimee Eisenberg and Maura Curran led the squad in the memorable acts-"Are you ready?" "No!" Between Debbie W antics and the team's cheer at Triton and two people, ND and AS, forgetting their routine, it was a fun but not to be enthusiastic. Congratulations to All-Star Chrissy Dellinger and good luck to 1989 captains Karen Guthenberg and Peggy Pres

Under the coaching of Mr. Murphy, the lady Chieftains had another winner year, finishing 17-4 overall and placing second in the Cape Ann League. The team suffered its first loss to Division I Revere in a Holiday Tournament over Christmas vacation. Coming back the next game, the girls defeated Carlisle Peterman in double overtime. The team continued its winning streak until it faced North Andover. Despite their hustle, the girls lost 48-58 to a well-prepared Knight team. The showdown came at the last game of the season when the Chieftains faced North Andover once again. This time, the intensity was much higher and the 69-65 score let the Scarlet Knights escape by, leaving Masco to finish second. The girls qualified for the state tournament and did very well in the post-season. The team lost three seniors due to graduation, but the team compensated for this with determination and hard work. The future is uncertain for girls basketball, due to the fact that five seniors, all starters this year, will be gone. But, if the girls continue to work, the legacy established over the past four years should continue.

Senior captain Laurie Saitta commented, "Our team worked well together. Some of us had been playing together since sixth grade. During that time you can develop as a team. Our success was due to this and also hard work. It was a great season and I enjoyed being a part of."

Senior Squad Stumbles

The boy's basketball team had a disappointing 6-14 record, ending the season with two tough losses. The team returned four veterans to the squad for the 1988 season including co-captains John Womack and Mike Froning. With a fairly inexperienced team, the Chieftains started off shakily. During the middle of the season, the team seemed to pull together to win against Newport and Amesbury. But, the January blues hit and the Chieftains ran into problems. As senior captain Froning commented, "We had a good team. We just could n't get the team to work in sync. That hurt us."

Although this year was the first year in eight that the boys did not qualify for the tournament, Coach Casey stated, "A lot of learning went on. It was a challenging season although we did not do as well as I had hoped." With only four returning members next year and senior All-League player John Womack graduating, Coach Casey may be in for another building season.

1987 Season-Ouch!

The Girls' Volleyball team, led by captains Pat Cooney and Shannon McInnis, had a fun season despite several setbacks which led to a 3-13 season.

The girls opened up with a 2-0 win against Melrose and it seemed that the semi-pr dominated team was off and spiking. But first setter Sue Cornelussen dislocated her shoulder in the third week of the season, sidelining her for the majority of the year. This setback disheartened the team, sending them into an eight game losing streak. This streak, however, was broken as Masco rallied to beat Lynnfield 2-1, beating the second best team in the league. Several games later Masco played well to capture one set in a 1-2 loss to Lawrence Y Catholic High School. Lawrence had not lost a set prior to this time in 1987. Karen Kiley, who replaced Cornelussen, did an admirable job as setter in her all. Pat Cooney feels the season was successful, "Although our record wasn't the greatest, we had a good time. We played more for the fun of it than for our record. If you don't have fun, why bother playing?"

Girls Juggle Title

The Girls' Varsity Soccer season can be described in one word: incredible. During the dreaded double sessions, the team had one goal: to become the Division II North champions. Their season started out strong with a 14-0 victory and from there the team never looked back, posting a 17-1 record, with their only loss coming to number one seeded Concord-Carlisle. The girls easily qualified for a tournament position defeating Marblehead and Salem, 8-0, 3-1 respectively. The girls advanced to the Division II North Finals. Their goal was in grasp. The girls faced Belmont and decided they would not have history repeat itself, referring to their 1-0 loss in 1985 to the same team in the State Tournament. The girls played sensational, dominating the play which ended with a 3-0 victory. Kerry Herlihy was particularly impressive in the win. They moved to the state semi-finals in which they lost against Foxboro 3-0. This loss was easier to accept knowing that this team had gone farther than any other team in the history of the school. Individuals excelled as well as the team. Kendall Daly was named Player of the Year for Division II and most recently was named to the All-American Soccer Team. Also Coach Jim Murphy was named Coach of the Year for Division II. Heather Roberto, senior captain, expresses the feling of the team, "Being a part of this team was an extraordinary feeling. The winning is part of it of course. Winning the Division II North title was definitely a highlight which will be remembered. But, being a part of the team atmosphere was an unmatched feeling. The friendships that I've made through soccer will last long after all this thrill of victory has faded." The seniors wish the 1988 captains, Julie Kinley and Jen Robinson, the best of luck in leading their team to another victorious season.

Boys Head To Goal

Despite a shaky start, the boys soccer team had a great season ending up with fifteen wins, one loss, and one tie. The pre-season was filled with huge expectations due to the tradition of excellence in boys' soccer. But, those hopes were deflated after the opener against North Andover ended in 7-0 defeat.

"Our season had many ups and downs. Losing to North Andover definitely made us realize that to be a winning team, we had to do more than just show up," commented junior Rob "Ninja" Bilsbury, tri-captain of the club.

After settling into the season with a tie against Pentucket, the team proceeded to go undefeated for the remainder of the regular season. Highlights of the 1987 season included Masco's 1-0 victory over Concord-Carlisle and their impressive 4-0 win over Hamilton-Wenham. But, despite all these successes, the men's soccer team was awaiting with great anticipation the show-down with their rival, North Andover. With determination and much emotion, the team played hard at North Andover ending in a 0-0 stalemate. The soccer team had qualified for the state tournament but got knocked out by Belmont in the first round. In retrospect, junior All-League player and captain Mark Butterworth was satisfied with the team's performance. "The team worked very well together and once we settled down, we played our game to our capabilities. Our season was not only successful, but we had a lot of fun and the friendships we've made continue long after the season ended. This is the real reward of playing this sport for me, although winnin was nice too."

Okay, so maybe the football team's 1-9 record leaves a lot to be desired. But, sometimes a record can be deceiving. Two of those losses included a one point defeat against Triton and Pentucket. And whatever happened to the old saying "It's not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game." The games provided us all with some amusement or entertainment each Saturday afternoon. And we must not forget the cheerleaders, especially Jill Sullivan, who tried to distract us with peppy tricks when the team was having a bad day. But alas, the thrill of victory did not totally escape this dedicated team. The 21-14 win over Ipswich was the obvious highlight of the year. There were many injuries including Jeff Milks' broken leg and Tim Shields' spinal injury which left the team wary of the opponents' ruthless defense. Also, at Pentucket, there were valuable "treasures" which distracted the players from performing to their capabilities. Yet an air of mystery still surrounds one aspect of the team. Inquiring minds want to know, what exactly is THE POTION? And are you really going to drink it? The team of 1988 returns with three year starting quarterback Phil Richardson whose talent has developed over his high school career. Senior captain Greg Haberland who personally had an outstanding season, had this to say, "Our season was very disappointing. We should have done better but we couldn't connect in some key situations. Although the personal recognition is nice, I would have traded it all for my team's success."

Girls stick to it

The Girls Field Hockey team recovered well from their loss of [illegible] seniors in [illegible] with [illegible] an overall successful '87 season with a 6-8-3 record.

Led by captains Jen Priest, Ilene Rossman, and Meg Ryan, the team went on a three game winning streak after losing to Georgetown 1-0 in the opening game. The highlight occured in the middle of the season when Masco waged a fierce game against powerhouse Lynnfield, resulting in a 3-2 victory. The competition ran high and the intensity continued into the next game against Westford resulting in a 4-0 victory. But, Meg Ryan's ankle injury as well as [illegible] set back the team for the rest of the season. Goalies Stacy [illegible] and Andrea Lucey both had three shut outs to maintain the tough defensive standards Masco has taken pride in.

The team's combination of experience and youth made this year a building [illegible] which will ultimately make the 1988 team that much stronger. The leading scorers were Britt Swanson and Jen Bertero were, in fact, underclassmen so it's clear they can only get better over time.

Looking back on the season, captain Meg Ryan said, "Our record could have been better but there were definitely high point because they were considered the [illegible] team. The season was fun and the team worked well together."

Bunnies Run Wild

Casey's Bunny dynasty continued into the 1987 season posting an undefeated league season placing third and ninth in the State and All-State Meet respectively. The league meets were competitive though, the closest being Maxwell's one point victory over Pentucket early in the season. Led by senior Robyn Darling, the team went on to win their remaining meets and then did extremely well in the post season.

Coach Casey's experience and encouragement was a driving force to the team's success. Casey was named Coach of the Year for the 1987 season. This was a year full of pleasant surprises as well. Sophomore Gretchen McCracken proved to be a major contributer to the team, running in the number two slot for the majority of the season. Gretchen also placed fourth in the CAL Open Meet. Veteran Robyn Darling continued to excel, placing ninth in the State Meet, competing with 300 runners. The Stambaugh duo, Allison and Carrie, were a great asset to the team despite Allison's back injury early in the season. Captain Deanne Russell noted, "The team's success has been constant. But, the difference between Casey's Bunnies and other teams is the close bond between us. That has as much to do with the tradition as winning."

X-Country Curse

This season did not prove to be a banner year with the boys posting a 3-9 season. But, there were many other aspects of the team and the incidents surrounding it which gave some spice to the 1987 season.

The turnout of seniors was at a peak during the fall. The boys trained hard and newcomer Jesus Damia, Spanish exchange student, was a great asset to the team. In the middle of the season, though, the trouble began. Corey Guilbault, star runner and captain, unexplainably crashed his moped, resulting in a broken collarbone and subsequent mental anxieties. Soon after this scandal, Chris Forman, out for a brisk jog, plunged into a camouflaged hole, severely maiming his ankle. With these questionable accidents, the team was obviously ill-spirited. Yet, they overcame the curse to defeat Ipswich 26-29 late in the season. Captain Guilbault stated, "There was something weird working against us this season. It was like an omen or something. But, we fought the odds and the team really pulled together at the end, resulting in really close meets. It shows that with determination, anything is possible."

of change has been whispering et for the past several months.
on, faculty, and community have methods to improve the quality of Masconomet. As of December '87, ns have been formulated, two of ently under way. These two are the and the Masco 90's. The Curriculum , Project (CIP) is an exploration of ctural and instructional changes to chool.

co Forum is a guest speaker series o bring the community, students, and together to learn about and discuss social issues. The Forum was created by eacher David Donavel, also President of conomet Teachers' Association. Donavel
"The Forum can be a source of stimulation ho participate and can therefore serve as a r all of us to continue our education and enur lives." The topics of discussion vary from e morality in America, to the uses of art, to the agement of our shrinking seacoast. A large mber of concerned community members, dents, and teachers have attended the series to en to the particular speakers and engage en-usiastically in the question-answer time at the
nd. This series has proven to be a great success.

The Masco 90's is another such program in which community members can get directly involved in the education of their children. The 90's project is a committee consisting of the PTO and PAC members from the tri-town area, and the superintendant of Masconomet, Dr. Carroll. The purpose of this program is to educate the elementary school PTO's and PAC's from Boxford, Topsfield, and Middleton about several educational issues. Firstly, the program describes the curriculum and structure of Masconomet now, then the alternatives possibly to be used as improvements to these in the future. The parents involved can then offer suggestions to the school that will better the school in the next decade, when their children will be leaving the elementary schools to enter Masconomet. The channels for this education are periodical speakers and meetings that suggest to the community more efficient ways of instructing its children. The committee also receives input form Masco graduates and the education they received here, the perceptions of some teachers, and the discussion of the Curriculum Improvement Project.

The CIP work is geard mainly toward increasing student-teacher interaction. Achieving this involves more classroom time with students and fewer kids per teacher. A probable result of CIP planning will be fewer courses at one time. A pilot of such a change could possibly be enacted in the fall of 1989, all proposals, however, are still tentative.

Although changes are not yet definite, the desire for improvement is. All the time and planning being devoted to bettering Masconomet will most likely pay off to provide the community with an effective, efficient, and productive education system from which we could all profit.

Highschool Vigilantes

Masconomet football hero, Bob Bagarella forgot, last November, to return a library book. Such a crime would never get past the unwielding Mumley. Mr. Mumley has recruited several hundred of the Masconomet Automotives students to take the law into their own hands. With the use of various power tools and other mechanical devices, these devoted young men have decreased the number of school crimes by 60%. At the start of this operation only the following misdemeanors were punishable: outstanding library fines, smoking in the bathroom, and leaving campus without permission. However, this situation no longer holds true. There have been several case studies in which students were brutally accosted for actions that were found to be actually quite innocent. The Masco Enquirer has had the good fortune to speak to some the these students. The names have been altered to salvage their already-marred reputations. Kathy, a small frail sophomore spoke to us timidly of her unjust punishment. "Well, at the end of lunch , I simply tossed my napkin and milk carton into the trash barrel. I saw two of the older boys standing with their arms folded leaning against the door," Kathy exhaled emotionally and wiped her forehead. "I felt someone grab me by my neck and a harsh voice said 'come with me, you!' " Kathy was not able to finish her story. To hear the rest, we contacted one of the young Mumley recruits. "My partner and I found that three-fourths of that kid's milk was left. I couldn't sleep at night letting such waste go on in my own school. So — ah — we roughed her up a bit. I think she'll finish her milk now." The goulish grin on his face showed his delight in the infliction of physical pain. Another student suffered from a mysterious broken collarbone after having splashed a lavatory mirror with water while washing his hands. We asked Leader Mumley what he thought of the overzealous vigilante acts he encouraged. "Laws must be enforced, detentions seem no longer effective, and hall monitors can't be everywhere. Frankly we get the job done, no matter what the means." He paused and added, grinning, "The boys do get a bit harsh at times, but it's for a good cause."

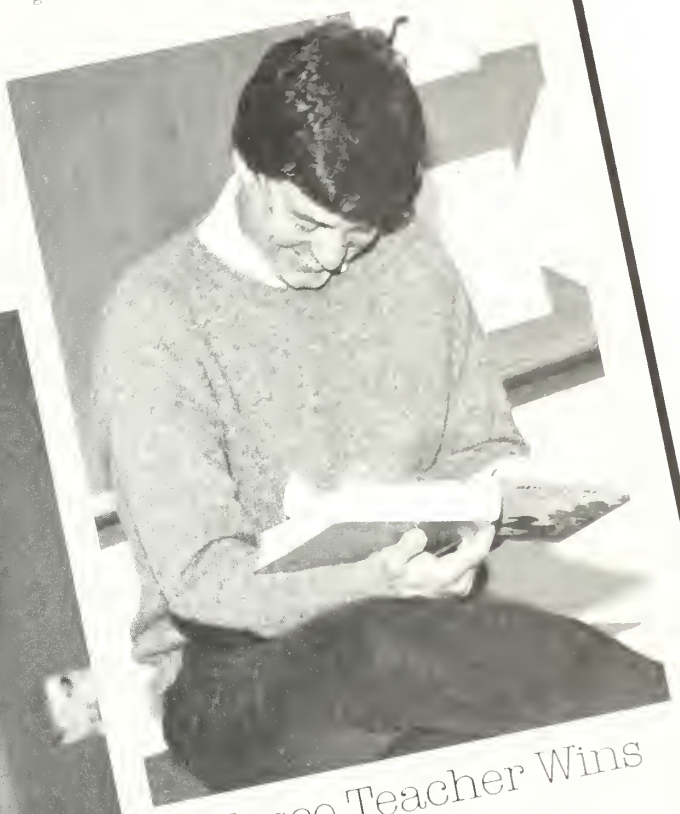
Jason Mumley, leader of the "Automotives Vigilantes", oversees the violent torture methods of his comrades

"I want to know"

Madman on the loose. Claude has been known to game and witty personal humor.

We asked several students how they feel about Donavel's alledged past. "It's so hard to believe, I always thought he was so normal." "You'd think school would be a safe place to be, well, now we're always looking over our shoulders in fear."

Despite these wary comments, other students and faculty either don't believe the tale of his past, or didn't think it made a difference. The school committee and neighboring towns couldn't decide whether to keep "Vinnie" at Masco or not, so they finally flipped a coin. The man of whose infamous vulcan grip we never had thought twice can still be found at Masco, teaching in a most convincing manner.



Virtually no scar tissue is visible on [illegible] reconstructed face.

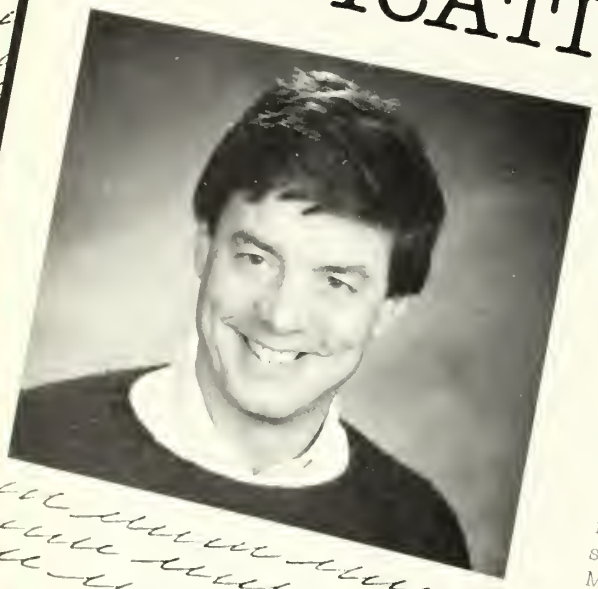
MASCO ENQUIRER

MITOBO September 1984 - June 1988 Vol. 29

DEDICATION: DONAVEL



After a painstaking search, the mentally unbalanced man who escaped from a New England asylum fifteen years ago has been found. Mr. David Donavel, English teacher at Masconomet, is strongly suspected to be this man, formally known as "Vinnie the Whip". Mr. Donavel, after extensive facial reconstruction entered Masco twelve years ago and has been hiding out in B-wing ever since. Fingerprints found on numerous checks signed under a probable pseudonym lead police officals to speculate that Donavel received his English degree through a mail order catalog. He has taken his masquerade to amazing extents during his twelve years here. The community and school leaders must thoroughly be duped by Mr. Donavel's educated aura, for he is the President of the Masconomet Teacher's Association and has singlehandedly created the greatly successful Masco Forum. You may be wondering just why we are dedicating this yearbook to him, as well as Mr. Hodsdon. Well, after so many years, we've all warmed up to this mad man adorned in meaty sweaters. Mr. Donavel encourages the bohemian maniac in all of us.

Hints of Donavel's shady past [illegible] Exam!
